Senate

WASHINGTON, March 25

Wallace submitted an amendment to House bill to repeal the specie resumption act which provides that after July 1 1878 legal tender notes shall be receivable for all debts and dues both public and private

At the expiration of the morning hour Howe called up his resolution asking the president for information in regard to alleged defalcation of Judge Whittaker of Louisiana and made his promised speech

Windom called up house bill to provide for deficiency in the miscellaneous fund The house amendments reported by the committee appropriating $20 000 for contingent expenses of the senate and $1 500 for folding documents were agreed to and the bill passed as amended

Sargent presented a telegram from the San Francisco chamber of commerce remonstrating against the passage of any bill repealing the law authorizing coinage of the trade dollar and reciting at some length the advantage of that coin to the Asiatic trade referred to the committee on finance

Booth introduced a bill to protect the water of all lakes rivers and streams upon public lands from sale and to dedicate the same to common use of the inhabitants referred

In regard to that portion of Howe's speech where he referred to the indictment against Whittaker having been nolle prosequied Hoar said he desired to inquire of the senator (Howe) whether he had any information that Whittaker was indicted for defalcation charged eight years ago tried and acquitted on the merits of the case and whether the indictment nolle prossed a year ago was for the same offense

Howe said it was due to truth to say that he had such information but he had also been told that the defalcation actually existed and he (Howe) hoped that the answer to his resolution would show how Whittaker was acquitted on that trial

Hoar said when the present administration came into power the attorney general received from the district attorney in New Orleans a list of old cases pending and one against Whittaker was wiped off the docket with a number of others of no importance The action was taken by the attorney general in the ordinary course of business without any understanding with the president The remarks of Senator Howe would imply that the nolle prosse of Whittaker's case had something to do with the political events in Louisiana

At the conclusion of Howe's speech the senate went into executive session and when the doors were reopened adjourned,

NETTING SALMON IN SCOTLAND

[From the Saturday Review]

Even the beginning of the netting season is not without excitement The opening days are often significant of the measure of success to be looked for through the rest of the season and accordingly the fishermen are proportionately excited The watchman from his commanding hut of stone and turf keeps a bright lookout on the pool A boat's crew of his comrades are clustered meanwhile round a fire under a similar defense against the weather below The sentinel reads the signs in the water of a fish working up the current. The signal is given the men are on their feet the coble is shoved over the shallows into the deeper water and is pulled rapidly out from the shore while the net, fold after fold slips gently out over the stern A horseshoe curve is steadily described and the boat is brought back nearly to the point whence it started Then the ropes and next the net, are coiled up hand over hand while all eyes are riveted fixedly on the approaching bag Shouts or at all events subdued congratulations are heard even from phlegmatic Scotchmen when the flash of the silvery scales is seen reflected among the meshes Then comes the heavy blow on the snout that puts an end to the dying struggles of the creature and then follows the packing in the cases which excite almost as much interest at the railway stations as boxes of grouse on the 12th of August And the chances are that the solemn opening day is celebrated in the afternoon by a great salmon dinner at some old fashioned inn patronized by all the local aristocracy The boiled salmon the broiled salmon and the salmon cutlets that have backed up by the noble round of beef need to be corrected by caulkers of native spirit and the decanters are placed upon the table at all they speedily make way for tumblers of toddy There is great conviviality prolonged far into the small hours with much time honored banter and jesting, and songs that are supposed to improve with age and old acquaintance The festival does all honor to the fish and it is certain that the guests have thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

Not Up to Expectation

ST PETERSBURG March 25—The Golos declares the treaty of peace falls short of the aspirations of the Russian people

War Feeling in England

CHICAGO March 25 The Times's special from London says the feeling of anxiety here is very great and warlike sentiments are becoming general The two leading conservative newspapers are very violent indeed demanding war without further parley Russia has not yet made her expected communication to England relative to the presence of the English fleet in the Sea of Marmora but she has decided to postpone the withdrawal of her troops from the vicinity of Constantinople so long as the English fleet remains inside the Dardanelles

At a Dangerous Stage

LONDON March 25—The controversy between England and Russia is approaching that dangerous stage where points of honor more and more engage attention

Anti-Russian Feeling in Austria

LONDON March 25—Vienna correspondents say the full text of the treaty of San Stefano has renewed a strong anti Russian feeling there There is no difference of opinion about the real meaning of the treaty It is not Russian preponderance but Russian rule in European Turkey and it is because such alteration as would remove this feature would entirely destroy the treaty that less confidence is felt in the efficacy of the congress since its publication While Count Andrassy will demand a revision of the entire treaty he will decline to do so in combination with England because their interest is not identical

England's Friends in Turkey

A special to the Times from Pera says Mr Layard British ambassador at Constantinople is the head of a party who would rather see England go to war with Russia on any grounds however trivial than not at all The present philo English attitude of the Porte is due to intimate friendship between Layard and Vefik Pasha and the latter's temporary influence over the sultan But the sultan is a man of capricious and arbitrary temper and of inferior capacity and resolution A court or cabinet intrigue might destroy Vefik Pasha's ascendency and change the whole Turkish policy

SIX GREAT NOVELS

[From the N Y World]

It is doubtful whether any human being if his life were insured for three centuries and free warren given him of the Bodleian the British museum and the French national library could learn as much as Mr Joseph Cook appears to know about things in general Omniscience however is like majesty it must always be on its guard Many worthy people who have accepted Mr Cook's cathedral interpretations of Kant applauded his annihilation of Herbert Spencer and rejoiced over his application of the theories of Huxley and Darwin to prove the immortality of the soul, will be likely to be startled into sudden scepticism concerning the soundness of his literary scholarship and judgment by his catalogue of the six greatest novels ever written The names of Kant and Spencer, Huxley and Darwin are in the mouths of many but their books are in the hands of few whereas of the reading of novels there is no end and novel readers run to bigotry and sectarianism at least as easily as good Christians and lovers of music When therefore, Mr Cook announces dogmatically that Richter's 'Titan' 'Goethe's Wilhelm Meister,' and Hugo's 'Les Miserables,' are the supreme trinity of works of fiction and that Scott's 'Ivanhoe' 'Thackeray's 'Newcomes' and Mrs Stowe's 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' stand next in rank though far below the first he simply walks into a hornet's nest. There are many people who might concur in his choice of one of the works named in his list There are some who might concur in the honor paid to two of them and a few might even concur in ascribing pre eminence to three out of the six mentioned but we doubt if a jury of half a dozen educated persons selected out of all the world of all nations climes and tongues would award a place among the half dozen greatest novels ever written to any four of his six A correspondent informs us that when the fact that Mr Cook had been disposing of crowns among imaginative writers was reported to a certain goodly company of young men who took an interest in the distribution of such honors they amused themselves by selecting each in the light of his own judgment the six greatest novels ever written The result was curious enough Only one of them hit upon a single one of the works chosen by Joseph Cook and no two of them agreed with each other in regard to more than one novel Such a test exposes the absurdity of attempting to make the taste of one man a criterion for mankind To be allowed to decide which are the six greatest novels ever written a critic must first show that he knows something of all the best novels ever written and must next adopt and submit for consideration some fixed principle of judgment Mr Cook's list seems to have been made up according to his individual whims like that of an enthusiastic boy who might select 'The Last of the Mohicans' 'Percival Keene' 'Tom Brown' 'Sixteen String Jack' 'The Scalp Hunters' and 'Prairie Bird' as the champion tales of the world Judged by any canons whatever of literary art, 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' could hardly be set above these stories Judged by its power of arousing the interest and compelling the attention of general readers which is a sound test in the matter of novels, 'Titan' falls below them all 'Wilhelm Meister' is a great work but it is a droll thing to bestow on it the title of a great novel Many indefatigable consumers of novels have failed to get through the long winded account of his puppets with which the hero sets his mistress asleep in the very beginning of the book and it is not to be compared as a story with the 'Elective Affinities' 'The Newcomes' is certainly not Thackeray's masterpiece as a story and most people we suspect concur with him in his own opinion that 'Esmond' is the supreme effort of his genius as a novelist 'Ivanhoe' is the delight of all readers but those who have studied Scott most will be apt we think to say that although no one else has done similar work so good as this tale of chivalry he himself has done better work of the same kind If France the home of the modern novel where Thackeray learned his art and Miss Bronte hers is to be awarded but one place among the immortals and Victor Hugo had the bestowal of it even his colossal vanity would hardly pass over Le Sage and Balzac and George Sand unless in favor of his own 'Notre Dame' But it is useless to waste criticism on a schedule of the six foremost works of fiction which gives one place to the elaborate rhapsody of a German prose poet who cannot be understood without commentaries one place to a political pamphlet in the disguise of a sensational serial story and two places to the second rate works of two eminent English writers leaving meantime the masterpieces of Italian and of Spanish literature absolutely out of consideration Before Mr Cook repeats his list we advise a committee of Boston men of culture to insist on revising it and on compelling him at least to make room for 'Don Quixote' by shouldering some of his present favorites out of the way if only for the sake of their city's reputation Meanwhile that we may get a soul of good out of this evil thing we advise our readers to set the members of their family circles to work at the task of filling out lists of the greatest novels in the world after the manner of the Boston preacher only insisting that they shall give better reasons than he has done for their preferences The task would be sure to breed both amusement and instruction

R P Earhart is widely spoken of as a probable candidate on the Republican ticket for secretary of state He is excellently qualified and deservedly popular.

TERROR OF THE SEA

Ship Eurydice Capsized and Sunk on the English Coast—Over 300 Persons Find a Watery Grave.

LONDON March 25—The following is the survivor Cuddiford's statement The ship capsized in a squall about four in the afternoon five miles from Dunnose There were over 300 persons on board all of whom except myself and Fletcher I believe lost I was one of the last to leave the ship Captain Hare was near me when she went down After capsizing she carried with her a large number of men clinging to her or they were drawn in the vortex A man near me said a vessel was close by when the squall came on and here he will be sure to be picked up I was more than an hour in the water being a first rate swimmer and very many of my comrades cried to me for help I tried to assist two or three but at last there were four clinging to me and I was obliged to kick them off Our ship left Bermuda three weeks ago We passed the Lizard the most southern point of Great Britain yesterday and expected to anchor at Spithead about 5 in the afternoon

The admiral commanding at Portsmouth has sent steamers to search in the vicinity of the accident but no further report has been received It is believed the Eurydice had about 320 officers and seamen of which 270 were young men in training besides about 20 officers and men taken on board at Bermuda as invalids Dunnose off which the ship was lost is a lofty headland and well known to visitors to the Isle of Wight The Eurydice was commissioned in Portsmouth in February 1877 and went on a practice cruise to the West Indies whence she had been for some days expected at Portsmouth

Lloyds place the number on board at 310 Two only are known to be saved though a telegram from Ventnor states that a bark was seen bearing toward Dunnese just before the squall There is some hope that she may have rescued others In consequence of a strong ebb tide and north wind at the time the bodies are not expected to come ashore All hands were mustering on deck for prayers at the time of the disaster But for a passing schooner nothing would have been known of the disaster as everything on the sea was hidden from those on shore by a blinding snow storm and it would have been thought the ship had gone on to Spithead At 3 30 the Esplanade at Ventnor was crowded with visitors admiring the Eurydice which was carrying every available stitch of canvass She sailed so close to shore that from the pier head the cordage of the rigging was visible Suddenly the sky became overcast and snow and sleet descended quickly driving promenaders to cover and hiding the vessel from view When the storm lifted only the schooner Emma Louening and her boats could be seen Fletcher the other survivor states he was below when hearing a noise on deck he rushed up and found the vessel on her side in a sinking condition, He had been in the water scarcely a minute when the vessel lurched forward and sank drawing him down such a distance that he gave himself up for lost but a life buoy drew him to the surface The vessel lies, with her masts visible two miles off Luccombe Chinea Point where a ravine runs down to the sea and through which the wind blows with a force against which only a close reefed vessel can land

Boats went out last night to search for bodies but none were found Several gunboats are to-day cruising in that neighborhood An effort will be made to raise the vessel

PORTSMOUTH March 25—A telegram says it is feared that with the men who embarked at Bermuda and probably from Admiral Key's squadron in North America and West Indies the Eurydice had nearly 400 persons on board

POLITICAL POINTS

It is said that Gen John F Miller has beaten A H Brown in the Marion primaries for control of the delegation of that county in the Democratic state convention The office of state treasurer is the bone of contention

Jacksonville Times Senator Mitchell ought to introduce bills for locks in Bear creek and a railroad across the Desert They would be very popular measures and that is all the balance of the bills he frames now a days amount to

According to the Salem Record there is a row among the Greenbackers of Marion It is told that the fifteen delegates who did not attend the convention will hold a meeting on Tuesday evening and pass resolutions condemnatory of the action of the convention Also that the opinion is expressed by many of the fifteen delegates that the convention was worked in the interest of Mitchell to draw off strength from the Democracy

At a meeting of the Greenbackers held in Oregon City March 21st the following delegates were elected to represent Clackamas county in the state convention R N Wortham Ira Moody John Ring Wm Scott Enoch Scrvin H N Darnall The convention then adjourned to meet in Oregon City on April 20th at 11 o'clock A M for the purpose of nominating county officers and for the election of a county central committee and for any other business that may properly come before it

The Man Who Tackles Bob Ingersoll

[Washington Letter to Chicago Times]

The lecture of Mr Wendling in answer to Ingersoll is the subject of conversation in varied circles Judge Shellabarger one of the counsel in the electoral commission pronounces it one of the finest efforts he ever heard Judge Davis is equally emphatic Congressman Martin I Townsend of New York calls him the finest orator in America Senator Ferry came upon the stage at the close of the evening and requesting an introduction paid most exceptional compliments to the young Hercules 'The grandest thing I ever heard in my life' puffed Ellsworth, of Michigan Where has Illinois been keeping this young man all this time?

When Good Times will Come

[From the New Bedford Mercury]

When business will revive no man can tell Prophecies will not hasten its revival despondency only retards it strength comes slowly to a man who has been wasted and enfeebled by a long illness The country must thus convalesce after the exhaustion which war wild speculation and reckless extravagance have produced The cure is to be effected by industry economy and hopefulness It will thus be effected We must dismiss our expectations of large interest, wake from our dreams of sudden riches live within our means and pay fair wages We greatly mistake if we are not, slowly perhaps but surely learning wisdom by the things we have suffered

An old man in Virginia City imagines that all the silver in the Comstock mines is his and every day he busies himself about the neighborhood believing that he is superintending all the operations He has long white hair and whiskers is excessively dignified in his manner and expects everybody to treat him with deference He is especially particular about the shipment of bullion for he fears he may be cheated out of some of the product of the mines Generally he is humored in his mania and recently Flood O'Brien and Mackay obeyed his peremptory summons for a conference He told them that he was dissatisfied with their management of the details of his business and that he would certainly discharge them if they did not do better

General Grant will return to his country some time in the coming autumn and it is proposed in Philadelphia to give him an enthusiastic greeting A committee has been appointed which is quietly arranging the details He is to be met in the bay by distinguished men from all parts of the country

The Port Townsend Argus has information that parties from Oregon are about to start a cheese factory on Mr Wm Bishop's farm in Chimacum, which will be ready to begin the manufacture of cheese by the first prox

THURMAN'S RAILROAD BILL

A [illegible] THURMAN IN [illegible] SENATE [illegible]—THE [illegible] ONE SIDE AND THE STORY [illegible]

Washington Telegram March 12 to Chicago Time

The final encounter began in the senate to-day Thurman made a statement of the government's side of the case while Senator David Davis laid down the law Mr Bell and others who propose to boycott the railroad committee bill were attentive listeners Jay Gould occupied a seat in the senate's gallery and it is a little black bearded Jewish looking face as about all that could be seen of the scheming capitalist behind the high curtain of the gallery Thurman sat but every word till the last one was spoken without moving a muscle Thurman was the principal speech He called attention to the fact that there was great necessity of passing some law looking to the establishment of a sinking fund It was not to be of benefit to the government alone and great care he said had been taken not to give the government any advantage over the railroad Up to January 1st last no provision had been made for a sinking fund to meet the indebtedness to the government although the roads were in receipt of the richest incomes much richer than those of any other roads in the United States The Union Pacific declares 8 per cent upon the nominal value of its stock which means 12 per cent upon its market value while the Central Pacific declares a dividend of from 8 to 10¼ per cent Thus they distribute millions annually among the shareholders while not a cent is laid aside for the government. He then proceeded to explain the bill section by section and pronounced it a very lenient bill Under it be declared that the Union Pacific road could declare a dividend of 4½ per cent on its nominal value and 6¼ per cent on its market value and the Central Pacific 6 4 10 per cent on its nominal value He said that there was not one railroad in fifty if any at all that paid any more or as much He argued again the great necessity of some early action by congress

Senator David Davis then crossed over to the middle aisle and was about to take Mitchell's desk when Conkling with Chesterfield urbanity went through a series of bows and polite inviting movements and offered Mr Davis his desk Conkling's is perhaps the most central seat in the senate chamber and Mr Davis took his stand at that desk and addressed the senate from it He took the ground that congress had unquestioned power to pass this bill. Admitting that the constitutional clause relating to the obligation of contracts applied to congress as well as to states, he declared that congress still had power to pass the bill under both the eighteenth section of the act of 1862 and the twenty second section of the act of 1864 He was of opinion that the constitutional prohibition against impairing the obligation of contracts applied to states, and there is none that applies to congress He waived that discrimination however and argued as though congress was prohibited the same as states and at the same time proved his point that it was clearly competent for congress under both acts of 1862 and 1864 to pass this bill Then he went on to discuss the extent of the power of congress as defined in various decisions of the supreme court His speech was altogether a legal one Doubtless few such masterly arguments have been heard in the senate For a time the senators seemed to have lost sight of the fact that Mr Davis was but one of them and in the midst of profound silence every senator listened to every word uttered by the great jurist as though they were in the supreme court chamber and the ex justice in his black gown was delivering an opinion It was a unique, logical and persuasive argument

A BONANZA QUEEN

MRS BELL'S $250 000 OF GLITTERING GEMS IN A MAIDEN LANE FIRM'S VAULTS

From the N Y Sun March 8

A few days ago the Sun printed an account taken from the San Francisco Chronicle of the regal wardrobe prepared by Worth of Paris for a bonanza queen of the Pacific coast who is about to visit Europe for an extended tour The wardrobe is the finest owned by any lady on the American continent and cost a fabulous sum of money The lady referred to is Mrs F H Bell of San Francisco She is a native of Boston about twenty eight years of age and the wife of Mr Bell one of the five directors of the Bank of California. He is also largely interested in silver mines with Flood O'Brien Mackey and others and is said to have an income of $60 000 a week Mrs Bell is now at the Hoffman House in this city and will start for Europe about the 1st of April She appeared at the Charity ball flashing with diamonds from the crown of her head to the buckles on her shoes and created an immense sensation Few knew who she was, and fewer still the value of the gems she displayed Her jewels are now in the vaults of a Maiden Lane jewelry firm for safe keeping and to undergo some alterations before her departure for the Old World A reporter of the Sun was permitted an inspection of this glittering array yesterday The sight was dazzling It is the largest and most costly collection owned by any one lady in the United States In this superb collection are such trifles as two solitaire diamond eardrops, weighing eleven and a half carats each, which cost $50 000 a chatelaine watch set in gold with turquoise diamonds and rubies four magnificent diamond and sapphire rings and two large diamond star shoe buckles to match the necklace The total value of this fortune in jewels is $250 000 It is to be expected that this product of the American bonanza era will make a sensation when she appears not alone among the effete monarchies of the other side but in the English and French capitals as well It is understood that she will endeavor to make life endurable abroad by the aid of such accessories as a $10 000 lette of credit maids nurses and so on

The Whitehead Torpedo

[From the London Telegraph]

The improvements recently introduced in this torpedo have increased its speed to between 27 and 30 miles an hour, and any one which has passed examination is guaranteed to run a course of half a mile with absolute accuracy Three ships belonging to the Mediterranean fleet are provided with these torpedoes viz Alexandra Agincourt and Temeraire while the Channel fleet has two vessels—the Minotaur and Shannon—which discharge the torpedoes, broadsides on, in full sail and make excellent practice It is calculated that with the speed now attained by these torpedoes no man of war within 500 yards of the point of discharge could get clear in time to avoid them while the explosion of one in contact would prove certain destruction to any ship afloat The admiralty have been informed of the reason why two Whitehead torpedoes launched by the Russians against the Turks at Batoum failed to act the reason being that the Russian officers omitted to remove the safety pin They were also set to run at a depth of 5 feet, which would take them some feet under the keel of the ship aimed at The Turks into whose hands the derelict torpedoes fell have since taken them to pieces and discovered the secret of their manufacture but the secret will be of little service without skilled workmen to take advantage of it the torpedo being made up of some very delicate and intricate mechanism

Jones Wants Rags, Not Money

[Interview with Senator Jones reported in Irish World]

We do not want the world's money In other words a money in common with other nations subject to all the fluctuations of foreign demand We want a national currency that a person going abroad will be compelled to leave behind

If he has greenbacks he will have no difficulty in purchasing gold or silver bullion at its market price for use in such countries as still adhere to the barbaric custom of taking nothing else in exchange for value and thus our own money will never leave our own shores and our home industries will not be left to the peril of every foreign embroglio or financial machination

I am certainly not an advocate for a metallic currency I have less objection to gold or silver as bullion than I have to either money And I would work harder to demonetize both metals were that the question before the senate than I have done to remonetize silver

In case the terrible ordeal of resumption is forced upon the people the remonetization of silver will mitigate the evil one half but the highest good of the country can only be gained by driving both metals from their position of arbitrary powers

What they Really Want

[From the New York Herald]

The reckless demagogues who have been practicing upon the credulity of an ignorant class of voters in the west and south are not satisfied with the passage of the silver bill Mr Cockrell has introduced in the senate and Mr Springer is watching for an opportunity to introduce in the house a bill for converting silver into money without awaiting the slow process of coinage The foremost of the silver demagogues set no value on the new law except as a basis of further legislation Butler does not believe in silver money at all nor in any kind of metallic money at all He has favored the silver bill merely as a means of breaking down the adherence of the government to the gold standard What he wants and what the western inflationists really want is unlimited expansion of the paper currency

A Revolutionary Pension.

[From the Chicago Tribune]

Ninety nine years ago, Count Casimir Pulaski was killed while conducting an assault upon Savannah, Ga then in the possession of the British An outlawed Polish nobleman he had met Franklin in Paris and had tendered his services in behalf the American revolutionists. A letter of introduction from Franklin to Washington insured him a prominent command in our army He died in action yet this government has never recognized his services, and the only existing memento of Pulaski is a monument erected by the citizens of Savannah. A bill has just been introduced into congress to pay $100,000 to Josephine Sufferyn Di Jaroszi the only surviving descendant of the famous Pole This amount is claimed to cover his unpaid pay and pension. It is quite likely that some private speculation may be hidden beneath this apparently innocent attempt to induce the government to cancel what is to a certain extent, a just obligation

The Value of Good Credit.

[From the Boston Advertiser]

The value of good credit to us at present consists in its enabling us to borrow at a low rate of interest the sums necessary for us to pay off that part of our debt on which we are paying a high rate of interest So when United States bonds are transferred in popular estimation, from first-class to second or third class securities, it means that we cannot hope to fund our debt at the low rate of interest which would have been possible but for the unwise legislation of congress and that the silver dollar is likely to cost us $20,000 000 a year in the additional interest which we shall be compelled to pay in consequence of its remonetization The total interest on the present debt is something over $90,000 000 By paying it in silver we may gain 8 per cent on this amount, or a little more than $7 000 000, but there would still be an annual loss of about $13 000 000

Gen Grant a Delinquent.

[From the St Louis Republican]

An ex president of the United States is a victim of the back tax law of Missouri The Hillsboro Democrat contains two orders of publication of suit by the collector of Jefferson county against "said defendant U S Grant who is ordered to be and appear at the term of the court to be begun and held at the courthouse in the town of Hillsboro within and for the county of Jefferson and answer why he should not pay the seven years delinquent taxes on certain lands owned by him in the county aforesaid

Fair Advice for Mexico—and the United States.

[From the New York Tribune.]

Next to permitting a president to serve out his full term the most sensible thing Mexico can do is to pass the constitutional amendment rendering him ineligible for re election With this provision engrafted in the constitution there should be less temptation to misuse the executive power and claims to a second term could only be made by violence.

NEWS.

The Daily Oregonian.

TUESDAY MORNING MARCH 26 1878

WASHINGTON AS A STATE

In Washington territory an election will be held on the 9th April for choice of delegates to a convention called for the purpose of framing a state constitution The convention will assemble at Walla Walla early in June In most places, perhaps all candidates have been nominated though we are not informed that any very deep and general interest is taken by the people Many are in favor of the movement and others appear to think it premature From the tone of the press we judge that the desire to form a state government is more general in the western than in the eastern division of the territory

The convention will be a small one It will consist of but fifteen members whose pay is to be five dollars a day each and the pay runs only for the time they may be actually engaged in transacting the business of the convention Their actual traveling expenses are also to be paid by the territory The convention therefore will not be a costly one Including the expense of the special election, the charge probably will not much exceed five thousand dollars The constitution prepared by the convention is to be submitted to the people for their adoption or rejection at the next election held for delegate in congress, that is to say, in November next.

Washington is destined to become one of the greatest of states In its area in extent and variety of resources and in commercial advantages it has assurance of a mighty future. The eastern part of the territory will probably for a time outstrip the western portion in growth of population, because its lands are open and may be cultivated at once; but population will return upon the western part, industry will bring the rich valleys, now mostly covered with timber, into cultivation Puget Sound will become to a great extent the depot of coal supply for the Pacific coast, and when railways are constructed the products of the unequaled forests of that section, which heretofore have been exported only by sea, will take the other direction and find a market in the great interior. The lumber trade in that direction will be immense. It will build up one section and increase the wealth of the other.

If Washington had the additional strength in congress which would attend her admission as a state, it would, beyond doubt be a great aid to her material interests There are reasons enough why the people of the territory should desire to terminate a dependence on outside politicians which is but a kind of vassalage; but it becomes a question whether they can yet secure for their territory admission as a state The opposition will be from the great states of the east which will make objection to what they have been coming of late years to consider an unjust preponderance of small constituencies in the senate Here is one difficulty Yet if the three counties of Northern Idaho, whose people express a unanimous desire to be joined to Washington, be included in the enumeration, there would now be a larger population than Oregon or Nebraska had when they came into the union, or to go back to earlier times, it would be greater than that either of Illinois or Missouri when they were erected into states And the population of Washington is now increasing at a rate which will double it within a very short time. Any objection to admission on the score of population will soon be overcome, for there is not another of the remaining territories whose position and resources give so certain assurance of a rapid growth and a great future It is for the people of the territory to weigh the probable advantages of state government against the cost of supporting it. This they will determine when they come to vote upon the instrument to be submitted to them by the constitutional convention But we should have great apprehensions that they would not gain admission till after the next presidential election One branch of congress will be Democratic, perhaps both, and since partisanship rules, there probably will be objection to admission of a state which would be likely to fall upon the Republican side Colorado will hardly be forgotten so soon But after the next presidential election the partisan objection will cease to exist. There will be a new departure. We shall expect to see Washington come in then, though perhaps not till then.

A MODERN ENGINE OF WAR

The torpedo has become one of the most effective and indispensable instruments of warfare It has been repeatedly stated of late that both England and Russia are gathering great stores of them for use about the Dardanelles and Bosporus in case of emergency We should rather look for proof of English superiority, if this should come to trial for Russia is behind England in the matter of scientific preparation, especially for marine warfare. In an English journal of recent date a lecture on torpedoes by Lieut Palmer of the royal navy is reported It goes very fully into the subject. The origin of the torpedo is credited to America, and what Bushnell, Robert Fulton and Col. Colt did to perfect it is very fully described It was first used in actual warfare in the Crimean struggle when both mechanical and electrical torpedoes were employed in the Black Sea and the Baltic. In our great war they were much improved and largely used The latest improvement, which is the thing that really renders these implements so formidable is a contrivance for steering a torpedo boat by electricity from a ship or fort, and exploding it at the proper time and place The principal defence against torpedoes is network around a ship, which prevents their approach Some of the new torpedo boats carry an apparatus to pump petroleum on ships and to set it on fire with rockets

Some months ago the Union Sentinel exhausted the then existing resources of its vocabulary in denouncing THE OREGONIAN because it did not fall in with Mitchell's rail road bill, but pointed out its failures and showed that it was not designed to build any road Having now regained its breath and recuperated somewhat the Sentinel changes its tone and with even more vehemence begins an attack on Mitchell for pursuing the course which it applauded when he began it A little discernment at the outset would have discovered the whole situation Last November the tendency, object and consequences of the Mitchell bill were just as apparent as now to every one who had his eyes open The person who complains that he has been deceived in the matter does no credit to his own sagacity

The "bell punch" is so great a success in Virginia that the Cincinnati Gazette thinks Ohio ought to have it. And no doubt a tax of one cent a drink in Oregon would do much

The assault on Hayes in the senate opened by Howe yesterday, failed because nobody took it up But this omission does not disprove the fact that there is great dissatisfaction with the president among members of his party both in and out of congress The quarrel would become flagrant at once if the president and his friends would assume their part of it But this they judiciously refuse to do No grievous words are employed on their side to stir up anger Though the administration actually has little standing with any party and no representative character, and is therefore weak on general principles, yet it gets on without a conflict because it pursues the policy of a non combatant and is saved a world of trouble by making no answer to attacks

The Congressional Record loaded down with speeches on the silver bill which never were delivered is still coming Among them is one by Bell of Georgia which is an elaborate effort to prove that the public and private debts of the country on a saving of ten per cent will be reduced $750 000 000 when paid in silver Beyond doubt the strong force behind the silver movement was a desire to repudiate debts as far as possible and the Georgia member blurted it right out

One of the chief mistakes of advertisers observes the New York Evening Post is in trusting to journals which are printed not with a view of obtaining the largest and most desirable class of readers and thus becoming a practical means of disseminating information, but to journals whose main object is to secure advertisements and which trust to them and not to their subscription list for support

Senator Kernan of New York believes the Democratic party can be successful in 1880 if it will let the finances alone He says that the country desires quiet, and if the party is wise it will attempt no more financial legislation This is sound advice though the Tribune thinks it may be too sound for the party

Latest quotations make the bullion value of 412½ grains of silver a trifle less than 93 cents Whence it happens that a paper dollar worth 98 cents is redeemable with a silver dollar worth 92 cents This is queer enough, but the reason is plain

Must Take the Wood or Quit the Country

A letter from Washington to the New York Times on the debate in congress upon the course pursued by the interior department toward settlers who are obliged to take wood from the public lands is written by a person who has a right understanding of the subject The writer says

> There is no law providing for the sale of this public timber, and the settler must take it in violation of law or go without it If he cannot get a certain amount of wood from the public domain he must abandon his settlement So he takes what he wants for his own use Perhaps he makes a house or shelter of some kind and his use of lumber for that purpose is not likely to be extravagant Perhaps he makes his house cheaper of dried mud bricks called dobes. He cuts enough wood for fuel and if he lives in a northern territory the amount required is considerable If he lives in the south the amount used is very small, and you may be sure you will never find a month's surplus at his door What is done by the individual ranchman is of course done by the people of villages similarly situated and here the division of industries common in a community leads to the fuel being supplied by some persons who cut it and sell to others who remain at home

An Answer to a Charge

Replying to the charge that he had made a fraudulent transfer of his property to his children in order to evade responsibility as surety for May's defalcation, Jesse Applegate in a recent letter to the Ashland Tidings says

> What wealth I may have had was accumulated by my own labor and that of my family on a farm and as their natural protector I promised in consideration of faithful performance on their parts that upon their marriage, or at mature age, if they preferred to do for themselves elsewhere to give to them such a start for themselves as our mutual accumulations would justify Five sons, a grandson and one daughter have performed their part of the contract. The deeds of land were made to them when they were men and women married, or about to be, and being made to them as they arrived at the age of maturity the transfer runs through a series of years, beginning before May was elected secretary of state, and at least four years before Mr Dowel signed his bond and the last of these deeds was made years before May was ever suspected of dishonesty as a public officer and, as a part of the land last deeded was my wife's half of our donation claim which could not have been taken to pay my debts if I had owed any which I did not outside of my own family the charge of fraud, or the intention of fraud certainly falls to the ground The above facts are spread upon the records of the county

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT.

SPRING GOODS!

IN ADDRESSING THE PUBLIC ON THIS OCcasion we do so with more confidence than at any time since our advent into business Our career in business has been singularly successful having attained a degree of enviable notoriety for straightforward dealing selling goods at a slight margin on importers prices.

Our STOCK for the Spring Trade is one of the best selected and the most comprehensive ever before offered to the people of Oregon—bought in the most advantageous terms and embracing every line in the trade

In disposing of this immense stock our conduct shall be guided by the same golden rule as heretofore—Honest dealing and the Smallest Living Profits

Our patrons embrace a large number of the Northwestern population and in sending out our

we hope to see or hear from all our old friends and as many new ones as wish to avail themselves of this opportunity of purchasing goods cheaper than ever before offered in the Metropolis of the North west

Our facilities this year have been unusually favorable for purchasing having through our friends of the Bay City had the chance of picking up special lines suitable for this market at prices for which manufacturers could not begin to produce them This in a great measure is caused by the almost general stagnation of business in the leading markets of the United States and more directly affecting the Pacific States from the hard times they have had and are having in San Francisco The consequence is the merchants there must unload their heavy stocks and in many cases at a great sacrifice

Fully realizing the situation our MR KERLON launched out and purchased an IMMENSE STOCK!

More than in ordinary times he would have been justified in buying, but the low prices he obtained them at will enable us to spread them over this State and the Territories at such a reduction on old time prices as will convince the most skeptical that we mean business and business we Must and Will Do!

It would be useless attempting to give a List of Prices Space does not warrant it But we shall forward samples to any of our country friends who send for them

The public in dealing with us can place implicit faith in the fact that the lowest prices are asked All Goods are marked in plain figures from which there can be no deviation thus placing the inexperienced on equal terms with the experienced in the purchase of goods

Our country friends would do well to reap the advantage of an early inspection of our Warehouse It is incumbent on us to make room We are crowded and we must move good off to make way for fresh contracts to arrive by every Steamer during all April

We have advices of a shipment of Goods from Glasgow direct now fully due and daily expected

CITY.

DOMESTIC INFELICITY —John Gately who resides with his family out on the canyon road, was arrested some time ago on a charge of assault and battery He was found guilty and a pretty heavy fine imposed Not being able to liquidate Gately was committed to the county jail for the period of 26 days. Sunday evening his term of imprisonment having expired he was released and allowed to return to the bosom of his family Nothing was heard of the festive John until yesterday about noon when his wife put in an appearance at the county jail She had walked all the way from her home some distance beyond the city limits, through the rain and mud and presented a very bedraggled appearance She informed Mr Morrill, the jailer that "Gately and she were out" She stated that after being liberated, he procured a bottle of whisky and came home very drunk He accused her of having him arrested, and swore he would have her life In his drunken rage he drove her from the house and compelled her to pass the night in the woods She further stated that he would have taken her life had he not been prevented from so doing by several of the neighbors The woman appeared to be in a state of great mental agitation, and alleged that she was in constant fear of her life Mr. Morrill told her that he could do nothing for her, that she had better go at once to one of the magistrates or police judge and make a statement and have Gately arrested and bound over to keep the peace Mrs Gately went away but what course she pursued with regard to her husband is not known

THOROUGH BRED HORSES —The steamer Geo W. Elder on her present trip brought to this state the racing stable of the Hon John M Coglan and Nathan Coombs Jr of Napa county, California The first is the celebrated b h "Shannon" full brother to the California wonder Mollie McCarty by Monday dam Hennie Farron. The next on the list is a b h four years old by Lodi, he by imported Yorkshire, dam Topaz, by imported Glencoe; her dam Eva Ashland by Ashland The third is a bay filly Haidee, three years old, by Lodi, dam Trampolette by Cheatham, 2d dam Emma Taylor by imported Glencoe The fourth is a b f by Cheatham, dam by Lodi, three years old The fifth a bay colt by Lodi, dam by Cheatham The sixth is a two year old b f by Joe Daniels, dam Maggie O'Neal by Lodi The seventh is a gr f, two years old, by Hubbard dam Ruth Ryan, by Lodi The eighth is a slashing fine looking ch c, two years old by Norfolk dam Gipsy by Lodi. The ninth is a black filley by Lodi dam by Vo cian The tenth is a ch f by Norfolk, dam Eva Ashland by Ashland The eleventh is gr f by Lodi, dam Eva Bulwer, by Bulwer. These horses will be sent to Walla Walla and then go in training for the races to come off there on the 4th 5th and 6th of July, from thence to the Oregon State Fair The pluck and energy of Messrs Coglan & Coombs are commendable supplying by the importation of thorough bred mares a want that has long been felt The horses can be seen at Aiker's stable on Taylor street

CELEBRATION AT THE BAY CITY —In the San Francisco Chronicle of March 19th appears a long account of the celebration of St. Patrick's Day in that city on the 18th inst. Among other things we observe the following paragraph "The Harp that once through Tara's Hall" having been played, Miss Annie Pixley was introduced, and sang "Killarney" in so magnetic a style that she was recalled amid the wildest acclamations. Upon reappearing she made a new and decidedly pleasant departure from the usual routine by singing, with genuine Irish vim, "Brannigan's Band" After this she was recalled with a very tempest of applause. She repeated the last verse and retired amidst a storm of cheers. James O Neill read the charge at Fontenoy. The reading was well received and Mr O'Neill being recalled read a little Irish poem, wavering between the humorous and pathetic, which put the listeners in the best of humor Miss Catherine Lewis sang "Kathleen Mavourneen and the strange selection for the day of "Comin Thro' the Rye." Mr. Meagher explained that the recitation of "Erin's Flag" would have to be dispensed with, as Mr. O. Barrows, of the Grand Opera House, who was to have read it, had unexpectedly been compelled to go to Sacramento"

DEATH OF MRS HAMILTON.—Yesterday forenoon at 8 30 o clock Mrs. P. Hamilton, mother of Mr John Hamilton, who was formerly connected with the police force, died at the residence of her son in this city. Deceased had been afflicted with consumption for a number of years Some time ago she left her home at Marion station and went to eastern Oregon, in hopes of obtaining relief. Failing to gain the benefit so eagerly sought after, she started to return. The invalid reached Portland last week, but was so extremely low that she was unable to proceed further on her homeward journey. After lingering for a few days the old lady peacefully passed away to the shadowy realms beyond the grave Mrs Hamilton was 62 years of age last Sunday, the day preceding her death. She leaves a large family to mourn her departure To-day the remains will be forwarded by rail to Salem, accompanied by her sons at which place deceased has resided for many years

"SAZERAC LYING CLUB"—This is the title of a new book just being issued from the press in San Francisco The "Sazerac Lying Club" was written by Mr Fred H Hart, editor of the Austin (Nevada) Reveille whose numerous sketches have been widely copied and have acquired for him the reputation of a facetious writer of some prominence on the Pacific coast The book will contain 250 pages, profusely illustrated, and will be handsomely bound in blue and gold, and red and gold Messrs Bagot & Massey are agents for this book in Portland, and are now engaged in canvassing for names The new book will probably be ready to deliver to subscribers by the 15th of April

WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS —Hearing on the application for a writ of habeas corpus in the case of Peter Morris, came up before Judge Shattuck yesterday afternoon in chambers Morris, it seems, was arrested some time ago charged with assault and battery. He was tried before Justice Bybee, found guilty and fined In default of payment Morris was committed to the county jail to serve out his sentence It is claimed that Morris is unlawfully held in custody on the ground that when he was sentenced by the court neither he nor his attorney was present he being confined in jail at the time and knew nothing of his sentence The matter was taken under advisement by Judge Shattuck

CHURCH ORGANIZED —Rev A T Jones of the Seven Day Advent Order preached at Ames Chapel Washington county last Sunday to a large audience after which he organized a church with eighteen members At the conclusion of the exercises the congregation went to a stream of water near by where the ordinance of baptism was administered to fourteen of the newly made members Rev A. Jones is one of the ministers who preached in the tent in this city last summer Mr Jones and wife left this city yesterday bound for Junction where he intends holding a series of meetings

NEW CATHOLIC CHURCH —Mention was made in these columns yesterday of the efforts which are being put forth by the Catholics of Portland to raise sufficient funds to construct a cathedral Already over $12 00 has been subscribed for the purpose It is expected to commence work on the new building about the 1st of June and crowd it forward to an early completion The new church will occupy the site of the old one—corner of Third and Stark streets Its dimensions will be 60x150 and 140 feet high The total cost of the proposed edifice will be in the vicinity of $40 000

CONDITION OF MR LIDDY —A report was in circulation yesterday on the streets that Mr James Liddy who ruptured an artery in his right leg last Saturday was lying in a very critical condition his death being hourly expected On making inquiry it was ascertained that the report was without foundation Mr Liddy is improving as rapidly as could possibly be expected under the circumstances—considering the serious nature of his injuries—and his many friends confidently expect that he will be able to resume his work ere long

The horses can be seen at Aker's stable on Taylor street.

Portland at the Bay City—In the San Francisco Chronicle of March 19th appears a lengthy account of the celebration of St Patrick's Day in that city on the 18th inst Among the performers we observe the following paragraph "The Harp that once through Tara's Halls" having been played, Miss Annie Pixley was introduced, and sang "Killarney" in such a style that she was recalled amid great acclamations Upon reappearing she made a new and decidedly pleasing change from the usual routine by singing in genuine Irish vim, "Brannagan's Ball." For this she was recalled with a storm of applause. She repeated the song and retired amidst a storm of cheers Mr O'Neill read the "charge at Fontenoy" which was well received and Mr O Neill recited a little Irish poem waver between the humorous and pathetic which kept the listeners in the best of humor Miss Catherine Lewis sang "Kathleen Mavourneen" and the strange selection for the occasion, "Comin' Thro' the Rye" Mr Mea announced that the recitation of Erin's would have to be dispensed with, as Mr Barrows, of the Grand Opera House who was to have read it, had unexpectedly been called to go to Sacramento

Death of Mrs Hamilton—Yesterday at 4:30 o'clock Mrs P Hamilton, mother of Mr John Hamilton who was formerly connected with the police force, died at the residence of her son in this city Deceased had been afflicted with consumption for several years. Some time ago she went east to Marion station and went to Wisconsin in hopes of obtaining relief but not receiving the benefit so eagerly sought after she started to return The invalid reached Portland last week, but was so exhausted that she was unable to proceed further on her homeward journey After lingering for a few days the old lady peacefully passed away to the shadowy realms beyond the grave. Mrs. Hamilton was 62 years of age on Sunday, the day preceding her death. She leaves a large family to mourn her departure. To-day the remains will be conveyed by rail to Salem, accompanied by her son, at which place deceased has resided for many years.

The book will contain 250 pages, finely illustrated, and will be handsomely bound in blue and gold, and red and gold. Messrs. Bagot & Massey are agents for the book in Portland, and are now engaged in canvassing for names The new book will probably be ready to deliver to subscribers by the 15th of April.

Writ of Habeas Corpus.—Hearing on the application for a writ of habeas corpus in the case of Peter Morris, came up before Judge Shattuck yesterday afternoon in chambers Morris, it seems, was arrested some time ago charged with assault and battery He was tried before Justice Bybee found guilty and fined. It is claimed that Morris is unlawfully held in custody on the ground that when he was sentenced by the court neither he nor his attorney was present he being confined in jail at the time and knew nothing of his sentence The matter was taken under advisement by Judge Shattuck

DOES WHEAT TURN TO CHESS?

M MINNVILLE, March 23 1878

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

I have followed farming about thirty years According to my experience and observation wheat does turn to chess After a winter of little snow when the ground has been freezing by night and thawing through the day wheat is often so injured that it can't make wheat and if it doesn't turn to chess then where does the chess come from? On the contrary after a winter when snow has covered the ground very little chess is usually seen My recollection is that chess never grows with spring sown wheat [This certainly is a mistake—Ed and it must degenerate from wheat sown in the fall Yet many people are very skeptical on these points

A good many years ago when wild oats first began to appear in Oregon S Watson of Polk county and myself were examining some heads of wild oats and we found heads half wild and half tame We came to the conclusion that tame oats turned to wild on account of slovenly farming and a succession of volunteer crops There are many transformations in nature not more strange than that wheat should turn to chess

An Astonishing Fact

A large proportion of the American people are to day dying from the effects of Dyspepsia or disordered liver The result of these diseases upon the masses of intelligent and valuable people is most alarming making life actually a burden instead of a pleasant existence of enjoyment and usefulness as it ought to be There is no good reason for this if you will only throw aside prejudice and skepticism take the advice of druggists and your friends and try one bottle of Green's August Flower Your speedy relief is certain Millions of bottles of this medicine have been given away to try its virtues with satisfactory results in every case You can buy a sample bottle for 10 cents to try Three doses will relieve the worst case Positively sold by all Druggists on the Western Continent.

There are so ill in the Baker City district

Colonel Robinson and Frank Stafford of Astoria have perfected an anchor which it is claimed will never fail nor drag

The mountain streams of Southern Oregon owing to the late copious rains are booming and the miners are happy

Landowners of French prairie had a meeting at Gervais on the 22d and unanimously denounced those who are alleged to be trying to preempt lots in that locality

James A Miller a former proprietor of the Jacksonville Times now of Athens Ohio writes that a considerable immigration from that section will start for Southern Oregon during the coming summer

Jacksonville Times Our exchanges are excited over a report that an attempt is being made to drain Klamath lake which proves to be a myth Major Brooks and others recently attempted to blow out the riffle of Link river with giant powder but were unsuccessful In the event of their success in this undertaking it is very doubtful whether a perceptible diminution in the waters of the lake would have resulted A deeper channel is necessary to in any way affect that body of water and diverting the source of supply would be no secondary matter

A portion of Bear Tooth mountain in Northern Montana became detached recently from the main peak and a mass of rock and earth 500 feet high and 300 feet in circumference came down through a forest for half a mile sweeping everything before it There were two peaks the smaller of which thus came down

NOTES AND COMMENTS

They are talking of seventy five thousand survivors of the Mexican war. The truth is that it will be impossible to find six thousand and it is evident that impersonation is to play a part in the swindle

The Louisville Courier Journal states that an autograph letter from Gen Grant to a distinguished Republican of Knoxville says that nothing would induce him ever to become a candidate for president again

Another step across the color line. Col Barksdale of the Democratic Jackson (Miss) Clarion gave a banquet to the members of the legislature recently, and the half dozen negroes were scattered among the whites without any attempt at discrimination

Ben Wade says the New York World was noted almost as much for his irreverence and for his habitual indulgence in the trick which Uncle Toby brought from Flanders as for his shrewdness political cunning and overbearing force of will

Boston Journal: Gov Andrew once expressed in a single phrase the import of Col Bob Ingersoll's lecture "I don't want" said the governor "that any one should try to ram his catechism down my throat, and I don't propose to try to ram mine down anybody's throat

The fourth and fifth volumes of Masson's Life of John Milton are now ready. The last volume brings the biography down to the year 1660. The professor of rhetoric in the University of Edinburgh has become the authority on all subjects pertaining to Milton. He gives a minute history of the times parallel with the events of the great poet's life

Ex-Gov Packard of Louisiana is a philosopher and knows how to bear his political pull down gracefully. Recently some of his friends in discussing the gubernatorial question had a good deal to say about "the governor de jure and the governor de facto." He stopped the talk by quietly saying "Gentlemen the real fact in this business is that I am only governor defuncto

How they Propose to Head Off Col. Bob

[From the Chicago Times]

A remnant of the Puritanical Age has been discovered among the Maine statutes, in the shape of a law declaring that "Whoever blasphemes the holy name of God by denying cursing, or contumaciously reproaching God His creation government, final judgment of the world Jesus Christ the Holy Ghost, or the Holy Scriptures as contained in the canonical books of the Old or New Testament, or by exposing them to contempt, shall be punished by imprisonment not more than two years, or by fine not exceeding $200. This has been raked up by certain religious people who propose to keep Col. Ingersoll from carrying out his plan of lecturing in that state

FINANCE AND COMMERCE

Financial.

MONDAY EVENING, March 25 1878

Gold in New York 101¼

Legal tenders in Portland—buying 97¾ selling 98¼@98¾.

Silver in Portland, buying 3½@4 per cent. discount.

There are indications of some increase in the demand for loanable funds and though borrowers are not very numerous at the banks we note the fact that outside parties are making loans of considerable amounts both on real estate and chattel mortgages. The transactions reported show variation in the rates of interest, the ruling quotations being 10@12 per cent, per annum. Doubtless in some instances commissions are made which the record never shows, but these are lower and less frequently necessary than formerly

The silver bill is still unfelt in its effects upon this market, the usual discount being made in all transactions of amounts above the legal tender limits, $5.

The Wool Market.

The Boston Shipping List of March 2d, says the leading markets do not give the people on the Pacific coast who look for high prices for the spring clip much encouragement. All through the principal manufacturing districts, there seems to be a very indifferent feeling on the part of buyers and it is doubtful if any considerable sales could even be forced except at some concession on even present low prices. Stocks of wool in the country are not large, the consumption is ahead of the supply, imports from abroad are out of the question, except at a considerable loss, and at the same time our market is in a more unsatisfactory position than it has been for some months. The principal cause, however, is the failure in Philadelphia previously noticed, from which nearly all the wool dealers of that city were the principal sufferers, and a failure for about $1,000,000, with probably no assets, a rather an unfortunate winding up of an unprofitable year's business. If the clip is held for any extreme prices, it is likely to remain on this coast longer than usual, as Eastern buyers will probably hesitate to handle it except at the lowest rates. There however may be some turn to change the outlook before the bulk of the Oregon clip is on the market.

Real Estate.

Further realty transactions are noted as follows

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN.

His Wonderful Success

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

Chronic and Acute Diseases.

He has astonished the People of this Coast by his skillful Operations.

HE HAS TAUGHT IN HIS

public and private lectures the true principles of health and life to both male and female. He has also warned them against habits that would be likely to produce disease in plain and comprehensive language. But where he has found them crushed and broken down by disease mentally and physically he has restored them to health and happiness for it is well understood that without health there can be no happiness has made a specialty in the treatment of the following diseases Catarrh Bronchitis and all diseases of the throat and chest by an entirely new system only known to himself. Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs including Spermatorrhea Seminal Weakness or premature loss of Manhood. In the treatment of these diseases he has made a world wide reputation by his astonishing success not only on this Coast but throughout the whole United States. Diseases of the stomach bowels liver and kidneys as well as all diseases of the blood and skin he has become master of and never fails to give relief at once and permanently cures the case if he is applied to in time to ladies only for years and is perfectly familiar with all female complaints and understands their delicate and refined organization as well as the proper remedies which should be used to allay their suffering and restore them to perfect health over most physicians—he can tell the patients' disease the moment he comes in contact with them without any aid from the individual. This accounts in part for his great professional success.

THE DOCTOR HAS GIVEN SPECIAL LECTURES

All surgical operations can be performed by his skillful hand, and the patient need not fear the result.

will send to those living at a distance and who cannot well visit his office a list of Printed Questions and by the answers when filled out he can tell the disease as well as the proper treatment almost as well as seeing the patient personally and will forward the proper medicines or instruments to any part of the country with full instructions and advice. Each letter requiring advice or list of questions must contain two postage stamps

Everything strictly confidential and honorable

THE DOCTOR

has studied in the best Medical Schools in Europe and three years in the Jefferson Medical College at Philadelphia, as more than one of the Medical men of the Medical Faculty in this State can testify

CAUTION.

WASHINGTON CITY

The Halifax Commission.

NEW YORK March 26.—The Tribune reviewing its Washington matter says. Extracts from the correspondence between Fish and Sir Edward Thornton with reference to the third member for the Halifax commission show that England waited fifty days before acting upon the nomination of the United States that [illegible] nomination was evaded that Delfosse was pressed by England for appointment against the repeated objections of Fish and that the three months time allowed having been consumed by England with various expedients that power then fell back upon the [illegible] of the nomination by the Austrian minister in London when Delfosse was [illegible] appointed. Petition of the Texas Pacific People.

The following resolution was introduced by Hewitt of New York

WHEREAS The Texas Pacific Railroad Company has memorialized congress praying for the passage of an act authorizing and directing the secretary of the treasury to endorse upon its bonds, amounting to $27,675 per mile a guarantee of five per cent interest for and in the name of the United States, and

WHEREAS Said Texas Pacific Railroad Co proposes to secure said bonds upon which the United States are asked to guarantee interest as aforesaid by mortgage upon among other things 600 miles of its projected road extending from Worth to El Paso in the state of Texas and

WHEREAS The title of said company to said 600 miles of road between Fort Worth and El Paso and its ability to execute a valid mortgage upon the same was not raised or inquired into by the committee on Pacific railroads as shown by the report from that committee signed by William R Morrison, therefore

Hayes' Placidity.

WASHINGTON March 26.—A number of members of congress friends of the president, called upon him this morning with reference to the speech of Senator Howe. They all expressed more feeling in the matter than the president himself, and suggested that the speech be answered fearing that to permit it to pass in silence might be an admission of its entire truth. The president took a different view placing himself on the ground that his official action was based on his sense of right without thinking for a moment what might be the result as affecting him personally. He was opposed to a public response preferring that his acts should be the best interpreter of his motives and principles. He had sought to perform his duty and with this he was content. No matter how others with prejudiced minds, might view this conduct, all would recollect the said how bitterly the senator denounced President Lincoln toward the close of his first term and how others sought to prevent Lincoln from being nominated for a second term but notwithstanding all this he was nominated and became more popular than ever, people having become better acquainted with him and appreciated his conduct more. President Hayes was perfectly willing to be judged by the same tribunal. The president does not appear in the least disturbed by Senator Howe's speech, believing time will fully vindicate him
